Your personal data

In order to properly advise you on which financial products suit your situation, we ask you questions about your knowledge of and experience with financial services, your financial situation, your wishes/needs for financial advice and your willingness to bear certain risks yourself, or your wish to hedge these correctly.

We handle your data with care

We have taken technical and organisational measures to prevent unauthorised persons from gaining access to your data. All our employees have signed a non-disclosure agreement.

How do we use your data?

We use your data to make an analysis of your financial situation, which results in our advice on what measures you can take to achieve the financial security you are looking for. To implement the advice, we work with insurers, lenders, loss adjusters, labour experts and other relevant parties. We only provide the necessary personal data if it is necessary to carry out (a part of) your assignment.

How long do we keep your data?

We only keep your personal data for as long as and to the extent that we need it. We keep data that we necessarily need during the term of our relationship or agreement. If our relationship or agreement ends, we will keep the data for the statutory retention periods applicable to us.

What are your rights?

You have the right to determine which data we receive from you. You also have other rights:

- a) You may request an overview of the personal data we have on record for you. This overview is provided free of charge.
- b) You may request correction if you believe we have incorrectly processed certain information about you in our records.
- c) You may request us to delete data.
- d) You may limit the use of your data.

- e) You may request us to forward your data to a third party.

Limited information

Compiling good financial advice can be compared to making a puzzle. There are many separate pieces that are all mixed up at the start of our assignment. If we have all the pieces at our disposal, we almost always manage to solve the puzzle and give you a complete picture. However, if you do not wish to provide us with certain information or impose restrictions on our use, then one or more "pieces" of the puzzle will be missing. Sometimes it is not insurmountable to be able to sketch a certain final picture. However, we will point out to you that this advice may contain certain gaps, because we did not have all the information and do not know how this may affect you. If we miss too much information, we will not be able to compile sound advice and we will not be able to carry out our work for you.

Complaints about how we handle your personal data

We try to handle your personal data as carefully as possible. If you have any questions, don't hesitate and contact us. We will answer your questions as best we can. In the unlikely event that you have a complaint about how our firm has handled your personal data, please contact our management board. We will then process your complaint. If subsequently you still believe that we have not handled your personal data prudently enough, you can submit a complaint to the Dutch Data Protection Authority:
www.autoriteitpersoonsgegevens.nl.
